The Challenge

- Needed to access data when in the field without complexity.
- Needed to implement data security for the top executives
- Needed to co-author documents when working on bids.

The Solution:

SharePoint and OneDrive

The Construction Company Saved a lot of money by Dumping their Servers and migrating to the cloud.

In this study, we will go over how we helped our client and saved them money by migrating all their data to SharePoint. Customer was looking for a solution that will replace their server, provide access for their superintendent and foremen to access the data securely and without complexity. They also wanted to be able to co-author documents when they were working on bids and projects.

SharePoint was the perfect solution for them!

The client was licensed for SharePoint via their Microsoft 365 subscription for their office applications, email and more. As part of that, they were also licensed for 1TB of cloud storage. Each user was also getting a personal 1TB of OneDrive storage, all part of their existing licensed.

Well, this was a no brainer then!

Creation of multiple SharePoint sites and Document libraries were the main part of this project. We created an Intranet site for their internal communications with their office and field staff. The documents and their security had to be discussed with their executives to ensure that privacy and security matches their current Windows Active Directory. Data was migrated and synchronized to each individual workstation (on demand to save space). SharePoint training was also provided to their employees to make the migration seamless and pain free.

SharePoint benefits:

Scalability: without incurring additional cost

Data Security: Government level trust

Collaboration: File sharing with internal and external users

Increased productivity: by being able to co-author documents
